Golf enthusiast and founder of Golfing Queen, Sheila Washington, lends her support to First Tee- Greater Dallas, for a special golf clinic to bring the greatness of golf to kids in and around Dallas

Sheila Washington has taken her support for the game of golf a notch higher as she lends her support to First Tee – Greater Dallas. The special golf clinic will be held on June 5, 2021 in Dallas, Texas, with the goal of encouraging enthusiasts of golf, especially kids, to be a part of the lucrative and highly beneficial game.

Sheila Washington, health and wellness advocate and golf passionista has expressed her excitement and enthusiasm in supporting this event for the kids. “I am so honored to support First Tee - Greater Dallas! Spending many years as a sports producer, I love to support those who encourage sports as a positive way to impact the community!” said Sheila Washington.

Golf remains one of the most lucrative games in the world. Over the years, more people have become interested in playing the game. However, it is important to support platforms that develop the next crop of “Tiger Woods,” which is why the team at First Tee - Greater Dallas is looking to make a difference by bringing golf to the local community.

Golfing Queen will be facilitating a ladies golf clinic earlier Saturday morning hosted by Donna Richardson and Sherice Brown followed by the afternoon clinic to be coordinated by First Tee – Greater Dallas. Understanding the great mission of First Tee-Greater Dallas, Sheila was able to recruit of her long time ‘sport’s friend’, Special NFL Hall of Famer, Tim Brown, to attend the kid's clinic. Tim Brown has confirmed to be in attendance. Golfing Queen will also be a part of the event, gifting the kids in attendance with fashionable Golfing Queen and Golfing King gear.
